MEDICAL HISTORY
The medical record contains your health information. When it is not kept at the MTF important documentation of your health conditions and doctor visits might not get properly filed. When documents are missing and your health history is incomplete your provider might not have all of the information he/she needs to provide you the highest quality of care.
COMPLETE
PRIMARY JUSTIFICATION
Population served and workload performed are the key factors that help determine resources for your MTF. The key to justifying the workload performed is the documentation in the medical record. If the record and the documentation are not available, the workload performed cannot be substantiated. This will result in reduced resources for your MTF, especially personnel and dollars.

Your original Medical Record should remain in the custody of the Military Treatment Facility (MTF) where you receive your primary health care. If you would like a copy of your medical record, contact your local Medical Records Department.
